

Testimonial from Bella's Veterinarian RE: Moxxor

My name is Stacey Huber DVM. I treated Bella in 2008 for a series of chronic skin and ear conditions. She had been previously treated with all types of topical and oral drugs without much success. She was evaluated by a Dermatologist at my recommendation in 2008 and was diagnosed with ATOPY (Atopy= or atopic dermatitis is an allergic skin disease of dogs. In the allergic state, the dog's immune system 'overreacts' to foreign substances (allergens) to which it is exposed. The most common type of allergy is the inhalant type, also known as atopy.) She was placed on a variety of medications to try to control her skin disease and had surgery to help with her chronic ear condition. The last time I saw Bella until recently was January 2009 and at that time she was still having skin and ear problems and was on Cyclosporine 150 mg/day, had hair loss along her back and tail and was very itchy. Her chronic skin condition never resolved with treatment and I felt so sorry for her, wishing there was something out there that could help her.

Then just recently, I saw Bella at my hospital and what an amazing difference!! Her coat is full and her ears are clear and she appears to be resolved of her skin and ear condition that has plagued her for so many years. Her owner Terri told me she was at her wits end and came across a product called Moxxor that has changed Bella's life. Since starting it in November 2009 she has completely cleared up and is doing great. I would have not believed it myself unless I saw it with my own eyes, and I DID!!

I have since started my Lab on it and she seems to be feeling much more energetic and lively and her coat looks great and she is acting years younger. I will continue to try this product on my dog and think you should consider it too!! It may make a world of difference for your pet that has been suffering with chronic skin conditions too.
